PAH REJECTS JOBS THREAT

By CHRIS MOSS

chris.moss@hertsessexnews.co.uk

PRINCESS Alexandra Hospital has denied rumours it is set to make a raft of redundancies to help plug a £2m black hole in its finances.

The Hamstel Road hospital has been put under significant financial strain after experiencing an unanticipated level of demand for its emergency services and must now make £2m of efficiency savings to avoid ending the year in the red.

Any end-of-year deficit would hamper the hospital's ongoing bid to achieve NHS Foundation Trust status, and a number of mitigating actions are now being introduced across the board to slash costs.

But despite a worst-case forecast of a £4m overspend come next April, the PAH NHS Trust this week flatly denied rumours it was set to make scores of redundancies, saying staff savings could instead be managed through natural wastage.

Cash-strapped NHS trust to seek savings through natural wastage

A spokeswoman told the Star: "In a bid to save a further £2million we are continuing to drive the delivery of large scale efficiency targets and all expenditure is being heavily scrutinised.

"The workforce equates to a large proportion of the organisation's expenditure and not surprisingly is subject to scrutiny.

"We do anticipate asking some people to work differently as a result of the work we are carrying out, but we want to retain skills, so it is highly unlikely that there will be significant numbers of compulsory redundancies, which are in any event very expensive.

"If any jobs are no longer required, individuals will be redeployed as new posts become vacant through natural turnover as people retire, leave or are promoted."

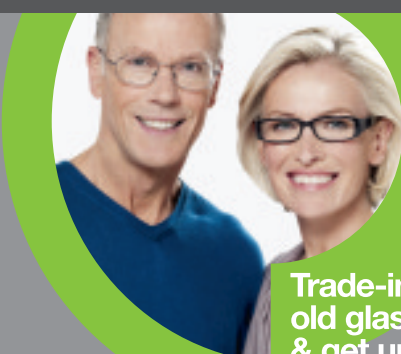

If cost-saving measures – including cuts to the number of temporary staff and the introduction of a telephone test result system to reduce the number of unnecessary follow-up appointments – prove effective, the trust claims it may in fact record a £500,000 underspend by the end of the financial year.

Youngsters go in search of perfect match

CONCERNS over the UK's alarming youth unemployment rate have prompted three Harlow College students to launch an innovative "speed-mentoring" scheme to help youngsters find their perfect job.

With help from youth charity ITV Fixers, Sahar Khatiri (18), Rikki Farnsworth (17) and Katie Clark (17) came up with the idea for a series of speed-dating style careers workshops bringing mentors and young people together.

In a trial run of the networking event held at the Velizy Avenue campus on Tuesday afternoon, almost 50 of the trio's fellow students were given invaluable jobs advice by representatives from organisations including the NHS, The National Apprenticeship Service, The Federation of Small Businesses and Connexions.

Earlier in the day, ITV camera crews followed the students as they met Tim Campbell, the 2005 winner of BBC TV's hit show The Apprentice and founder of the Bright Ideas Trust, and interviewed Star acting news editor Chris Moss about unemployment in Harlow.

Margo Horsley, executive producer for ITV Fixers with vinspired.com, told the Star: "ITV Fixers are young people setting the agenda and changing stereotypes."

"We want to give young people the chance to decide what they want to do, develop their own projects, and give them a little bit of help if needed."

"I've seen how energetic and committed they are when what they're doing means something to them. What we're seeing has really made me question whether young people deserve such a bad press."

"The NHS budgets are being frozen which means that trusts will have to absorb inflationary costs, drug increases and tariff changes within their annual allocation," the PAH spokeswoman added.

"Internal efficiencies will need to be achieved to ensure services are delivered safely and effectively within the identified financial envelope."

Councils to keep cash for housing

By CHRIS MOSS

chris.moss@hertsessexnews.co.uk

THE Government's decision to scrap the so-called 'tenant tax' and allow local authorities to keep council house rents and sales receipts has been welcomed by Harlow Council.

The move will result in the Housing Revenue Account (HRA) subsidy being dumped in favour of greater financial freedom for councils and could pave the way for the future construction of much-needed social housing in Harlow.

Under the previous system, all council tenant rent was paid into a local housing pot, from which the Government made deductions to fund subsidies for other local authorities.

But the new proposals, announced yesterday as part of the Comprehensive Spending Review, will enable councils to keep all the money from rents and sales receipts to invest in the repair, maintenance and construction of social housing.

The new system could be introduced as part of the Localism Bill next month.

Council leader Andrew Johnson told the Star: "More affordable housing is desperately needed in Harlow and we eagerly await further details on what the changes to housing finance will mean for Harlow's housing."

"This could be very good news for local residents as we have a huge housing register in Harlow but not enough homes to meet demand. "We need new ways to finance the building of more homes and we need more money to invest in the town's housing stock."

Cllr Lesley Rideout, housing spokesperson for Harlow Council's Liberal Democrat group, told the Star that the move paved the way for the future construction of much-needed council housing in the town.

"I welcome the Government's change in policy regarding the HRA, something that the last Labour government failed to do in 13 years," she said.

"By keeping all capital receipts, it will hope-

Chancellor's 'Robin Hood' savings plan

THE Coalition Government's Comprehensive Spending Review has been dubbed a "Robin Hood" spending strategy by Harlow MP Robert Halfon.

Mr Halfon told the Star that Chancellor George Osborne's plans would divert spending away from the rich to those who need it most.

"There are some difficult decisions made here, I'm not going to deny that, and of course the devil will be in the detail but the key words are fairness, reform and growth," he said.

Mr Halfon highlighted spending commitments to schemes such as pupil premiums, Sure Start, cold winter payments and the creation of 75,000 apprenticeships.

But Harlow Council leader Andrew Johnson was less enthusiastic about the review, saying the authority would now find it difficult to reduce spending through efficiency savings alone.

"Government funding reductions come on top of other financial pressures we face," he said.

"All councils are going to have to make tough choices and do their bit to help reduce the national deficit. We will do all we can to maintain and protect the services most important to local people."

The region's Euro MP Richard Howitt claimed the cuts would put the economic recovery in Essex at risk. He said: "When you cut jobs, stop house building and create a climate of fear that risks further jobs losses and could drive the country back into recession."

fully enable us to build new council homes in the future and once the Government has stabilised the dire financial state we are left with, they can deal with the leftover debt in a fair and just manner."

But Labour group leader Mark Wilkinson said the move masked an "attack" on new council tenants that will result in "colossal" rent increases. "While I welcome the changes to the HRA - which was something Labour had planned to do anyway - this reform hides a shocking attack on new council tenants, who will soon be expected to pay huge rents equivalent to 80 per cent of the market rate," he said.

'No decision on museum move'

THE Museum of Harlow is again facing an uncertain future as the council braces itself for deep Government spending cuts.

Harlow Council's Star Chamber has held private budget meetings to discuss its response to the Government's comprehensive spending review, announced yesterday.

And the Star understands that the council's Tory leadership has decided the axe should fall on the museum's residency at the Grade II listed building on Muskham Road.

"They have decided to close the museum in its current location and move some of the display cases over to the Gibberd Gallery," the source said.

"The idea was first mooted a couple of years ago but was scrapped because of public opposition but now it appears it's back on the table.

"Obviously it's unclear what would happen about approximately 10 staff at the museum if the council does cut it or what will be done with the empty building afterwards."

In January 2009, council leader Andrew

By DAN PHILLIPS

daniel.phillips@hertsessexnews.co.uk

Johnson allayed fears that the museum service was set to be scaled back at a meeting of Harlow Civic Society.

This week he said that no decisions had been made on the museum's current home and claimed the authority remained committed to retaining the service in some form.

"We have recently warned of the financial situation facing the council and that plans are being developed to meet the financial challenges we will face," he said.

"We are looking at a number of budget options in preparation. No decisions on service provision have been made as we don't know yet how much our funding from the Government will reduce.

"The council has already announced that it is looking at how it can deliver its priorities now and in future.

"The administration is committed to keeping a museum service in the town."

Drug dealer facing prison

A DRUG dealer from Harlow who claims to have "turned his life around" after being arrested with cocaine worth £500 has been warned by a judge that he could still be jailed.

Judge Christopher Ball, sitting at Chelmsford Crown Court, agreed to a request for pre-sentence reports but warned Allen Swatkins (42), of Brockles Mead, they would only affect "the length of sentence".

Swatkins was remanded on bail until November 15 for sentence after admitting supplying cocaine and two offences of possessing the drug with intent to supply.

Neil Fitzgibbon, mitigating, told the judge: "It was a relief for [Swatkins] to be arrested. He has been able to turn his life around."

Emphasising that Swatkins was now working as a driver and was willing to undergo drug testing if he were to avoid jail, Mr Fitzgibbon added: "He collapsed before this incident. Now he's drug free and there's been a clear change around."

However, Judge Ball told the court: "The supply of cocaine and possession with intent to supply is a matter that must attract a custodial sentence."

Highlighting the "corrosive and corrupting" nature of the illicit substance, Judge Ball said courts needed to punish the supply of hard drugs.

Swatkins admitted supplying cocaine, possessing 3.63 grams of the drug with intent to supply and possessing 4.16 grams with intent to supply, all on December 18 last year.

Police who arrested him outside The Cock pub in Cock Green also seized £1,500 found in his possession, the court heard.

Result! Car park helps end hunger

MEMBERS of a local charity group who pride themselves on getting results collected almost £400 by operating a special charity car park at Harlow College.

The Stort Valley Results group collected donations from shoppers in exchange for a parking space at the college on Velizy Avenue.

Group member Gillian Price said the haul was "fantastic", adding: "I'd like to say a big thank you to all the drivers in Harlow who contributed towards achieving our dream."

Results is a grassroots advocacy organisation that empowers ordinary people to take effective action to bring about change.

The charity's aim is to rid the world of hunger and extreme poverty and try to create the political and public will to overcome these injustices.

In recent years Results has campaigned on global health issues such as HIV/AIDS, tuberculosis and malaria, as well as broader issues such as education and sanitation.

Trial date set for rape case

A 42-YEAR-OLD man accused of a string of rapes and sexual assaults on three females in Harlow, dating back 23 years, appeared at Chelmsford Crown Court on Monday.

Nigel Robert Pearson, of no fixed abode, was remanded in custody until his trial, which is scheduled to begin on January 24.

He is accused of four rapes and six indecent assaults.

All the alleged offences are said to have taken place in Harlow.

He is alleged to have raped a female twice between August 5, 1987 and August 4, 1988 and another twice between January 23, 1992 and January 22, 1993.

Pearson is also accused of six indecent assaults between January 22, 1992 and April 4, 1999.

He has pleaded not guilty to all 10 counts.

Parents 'in dark' after head goes

ANGRY parents are demanding answers after the headteacher of a Harlow primary school was removed under a shroud of secrecy.

The Star understands that the headteacher at St James' Primary School, Emma Wilkinson, was suspended by the board of governors as of Friday, October 8.

But parents at the Church of England Voluntary Aided school, in Paringdon Road, have been given no explanation for the move and have only been told that a new headteacher has been appointed.

The education authority, Essex County Council, said this week that the matter was confidential and it would not comment, leaving parents and pupils in the dark.

A spokeswoman for Essex Police confirmed that they were not conducting any kind of criminal investigation relating to the headteacher.

The Star has been bombarded with calls from concerned parents asking why they have not been told more about the situation.

One dad, who did not want to be named said: "We've only been told that as of Friday we have a new headteacher and nothing more than that."

"We don't know why Ms Wilkinson has been suspended or what she is supposed to have done but we can only assume it's serious."

"As parents of children at the school we're entitled to know what she's been accused of."

"It's a disgrace."

By DAN PHILLIPS

daniel.phillips@hertsessexnews.co.uk

The mother of another pupil said: "My son has been coming home from school with all sorts of stories."

"The problem is we've been left totally in the dark. It's not fair on the children or parents - we have no idea what's gone on or even if she's coming back."

Another dad, who also wanted to remain anonymous, said: "The whole affair is a mystery to us."

"The staff just seem to be getting on with it but they must be finding it difficult with all the upheaval."

"I only hope that the children are not too distracted by events and can concentrate on their studies."

An Ofsted inspection in May found that a high turnover and sickness rates among staff had hampered the school's efforts to raise standards.

However, inspectors reported that recent staff appointments had strengthened teaching in some age groups. Overall the school was rated as satisfactory.

A spokeswoman for the county council said: "This is a confidential matter which is being handled by the school governing body."

"The county council is unable to comment on the absence of the headteacher. The diocese and local authority are supporting the school as required."

A spokesman for the Diocese of Chelmsford refused to comment.

Residents' plea to clear 'sea of cars'

By CHRIS MOSS
chris.moss@hertsessexnews.co.uk

FURIOUS residents fed up with the "outrageous" number of cars and commercial vehicles parked on their street are calling on Harlow Council to introduce residential parking restrictions in their neighbourhood.

Tendring Road can become so congested with parked cars, vans and trucks that buses have trouble using the street and residents often struggle to park anywhere near their homes.

Some inconsiderate motorists even leave their vehicles on green spaces and pavements, meaning wheelchair users and people pushing prams often have no alternative but to move into the road.

And according to resident June Coyne, the problem has now become so unbearable there is a minor accident or altercation between drivers on almost a daily basis.

The 76-year-old told the Star: "Not a day goes by without some kind of argument over parking spaces or a car being clipped by another vehicle – it's crazy."

"But enough is enough – we've had to put up with inconsiderate people clogging up the road for far too long and it's time the council introduced a permit scheme or introduced new parking restrictions."

"There are some houses that have two or three big vans parked outside as well as one or two private cars – how many vehicles can one household possibly need?

"Buses struggle to get down the road at times, which is a real problem for pensioners like myself who rely on them to get around."

Another resident, who did not want to be named for fear of reprisals, added: "The situation is beyond a joke."

"If you can't even use the pavement for all the cars parked there, how are you supposed to get to and from your own home?"

"If you look down the street it's just a sea of cars, vans and trucks – it's only a matter of time before there's a serious accident."

"But when you try and reason with someone who's parked inconsiderately all you get is a mouthful of abuse."

Cllr Tony Hall, chairman of Harlow Council's environment policy working group, told the Star: "We are aware that there are pinch points due to parking on both sides of the road."

"The problem is likely to have arisen due to a combination of factors such as increased car ownership over the past 10 years, the lack of road width – an inherent design in Harlow and other new towns – and the number of properties that face directly onto the road with no alternative parking spaces. The only real alternative is for households to park on the front of their properties but in some cases that is not possible."

"Other schemes to alleviate the problem, such as creating additional parking, would require financial investment, the support of the majority of residents and planning matters would need to be considered."

"We have asked our parking enforcement officers to patrol the area regularly. In the absence of parking control orders our powers are limited. We are happy to discuss the issues with residents and the county council."

Join boxing greats for charitable bouts

STEVE Collins, Sir Henry Cooper and Frank Bruno are among the famous ex-boxers lined up for this year's President's Sporting Club/Essex Disabled Sports Foundation boxing evening.

The foundation has so far raised more than £1.5 million for charities, local schools and organisations in Harlow and the surrounding area to provide sporting facilities and opportunities for disabled children.

This year's event will be held on Monday, November 1 at The Manor of Groves Hotel in High Wych.

Bruno missed last year's event, which involves boxers from Bishop's Stortford ABC, through ill health.

However, he is expected to join Sir Henry, plus John Conteh, Charlie Magri and Billy Walker at this year's dinner.

There are still a small number of tickets available at £50 each.

Contact Mike Jackson, chairman of the President's Sporting Club, on (01279) 651355 or 07584 251522 to order your ticket.

Feathers fly in couple's fight for singing Coco

A CUSTODY row with Harlow Council over a parrot has left the bird's former owner spitting feathers.

Coco – a talkative African grey – has become a visitors' favourite at the council-run Pets' Corner. But Angelo Ferlazzo says the creature is his and he should be returned to him.

Angelo claims he bought Coco as a wild bird from a pet shop in The Stow in 1984 and spent months taming him.

He taught the bird to speak Italian and whistle O Sole Mio, the tune from the famous Wall's Cornetto ice cream advert.

Angelo (50) said: "I taught him to say everything – I used to spend a lot of time with him."

But just a few years later, Angelo was separated from his feathered friend when his marriage broke down and he briefly moved back to his native Italy.

Angelo decided not to take the bird with him because of quarantine laws and assumed that Coco was being happily cared for by his former partner.

But four years ago he was shocked to discover the same parrot in a cage during a visit to Pets' Corner, in the Town Park, with new partner Karen Wright, of Jocelyns.

The bird's rendition of O Sole Mio confirmed it was Coco and the discovery brought tears to Angelo's eyes.

But a fairytale ending is far from certain as news of the reunion has failed to sway Harlow Council. It has refused to give Coco back to his former owner, saying that after nine years at Pets' Corner another move would unnecessarily upset the bird.

The couple disputes the council's claim and have even offered to replace Coco with another legally-sourced African grey at great expense.

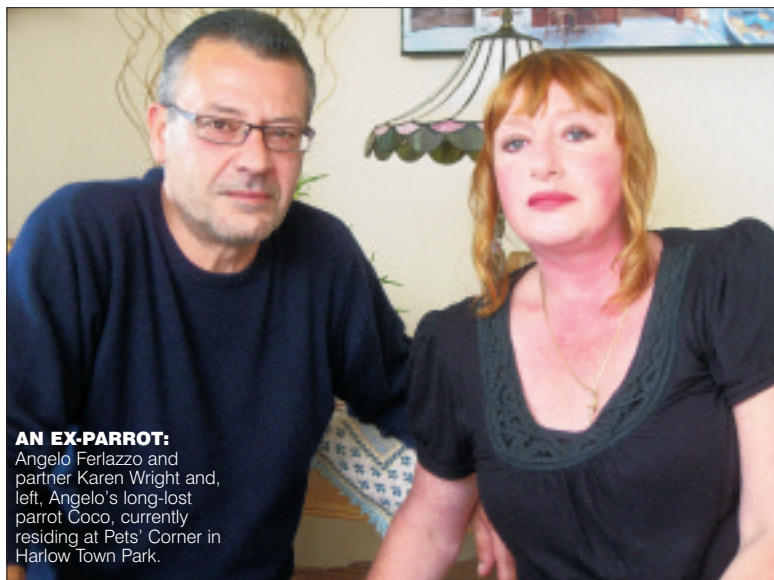

Karen (50) said: "We were told four years ago at Pets' Corner that the bird had only been there for one year.

"What we don't understand is how they can say that Coco would be better off in a cage at Pets' Corner. He's got to be better off in a warm, loving family home.

"Are they really thinking of the bird or are they thinking of themselves?"

Angelo, from Hoddesdon, added: "We just want to be reunited together. That bird should be with a family."

Cllr Joel Charles, Harlow Council executive committee member and chairman of the community and citizenship policy working group, said: "This matter has now been fully investigated by the council.

"Coco was donated in good faith to Pets' Corner about nine years ago. Coco is a popular attraction and much-loved by visitors and staff. He imitates the staff and animals and is an important part of the Pets' Corner family.

"The council has seen no facts to question its rightful ownership of the parrot. This was also our position four years ago.

"We have spoken to the RSPCA and they have said that moving Coco could be unsettling for him due to the change in environment.

"We sympathise with Mr Ferlazzo's situation but we have to put the welfare of the animal first."

Teen denies assault charge

A HARLOW youth accused of assault causing actual bodily harm and carrying a knife has pleaded not guilty at Chelmsford Crown Court.

Ryan Steven Kinggett (18), of Ash Tree Field, denies assaulting Gary Edmunds causing actual bodily harm on July 11 in Harlow.

He also denies having a knife in his possession at Brockles Mead, Harlow, on the same date.

Kinggett has been remanded on bail until the start of his trial on November 15.

Five passengers hurt in minibus collision

FIVE people, including two with possible spinal injuries, were taken to hospital on Tuesday morning after a minibus crashed into a coach near Harlow.

Ambulance crews were alerted shortly before 9.30am to the incident on the A414 Canes Lane, close to the junction with M11 and towards Ongar.

Three ambulances and a rapid response car were sent to the scene where the nine people on the minibus were examined.

The coach was believed to be stationary and unoccupied at the time of the collision.

Ann Trow, from the East of England Ambulance Service, said: "There were nine people in the minibus when the collision occurred and we checked over all of them at the scene.

"Two of them had potential spinal injuries so were immobilised on spinal boards and taken to Princess Alexandra Hospital.

"Three further patients were taken to hospital with minor injuries.

"The remaining four people did not need hospital treatment so were discharged from the scene."

Time for a rethink?

SIR, I am grateful to Robert Halfon MP (Star, October 14) for replying to my letter the week before.

The American Tea Party – the likes of which Mr Halfon wants to bring to this country – consists of wealthy people who want to keep as much of their money to themselves as they can, are loathe to pay taxes to pay for public provision (such as health and education) and see every benefit claimant as a feckless scrounger. Their views and values are obnoxious to those of us searching for the right balance between individual and collective responsibility within a society that wants to learn thoughtfully from the past.

So, yes, we need to cut spending. Along with the rest of the world we have discovered we did not have the wealth we thought we had. And, yes, I agree that, while by far the greatest part of the last Government's spending was to our collective good, some can be called into question. But when the axe is wielded by zealots with a passion to roll back the state come what may, I think we should all worry. So, Mr Halfon, you have shown your colours. Sensible people will understand the dangers your views represent to the future stability, prosperity and wellbeing of our society. The people of Harlow deserve better. You might agree you should reconsider your views.

Colin Slasberg

Cover up porn mags

SIR, I would like to remark on the number of newsagents and other shops displaying pornographic magazines in full view of all customers, including young children.

It amazes me that often we have the debate about the negative effects of television and computer games on children but never see what they are soaking up with each visit to the newsagent. What sort of message is this giving to our children?

We are so often told that pornography and "the oldest profession in the world" prevents more sexual crime happening on our streets. I am sick and tired of hearing this old excuse and would like to see more men taking responsibility.

I also notice that it is always women who spark any kind of action or debate with regard to men's actions or views towards women. Isn't it really time for men to bring themselves out of the Stone Age attitude and begin looking at things from a woman's point of view? Women have had to do it with men for so long.

Ideally, I would like to see every shop in Harlow stop selling this degrading material, but for now I would settle with covering it up, so that at least young boys do not develop, for their short childhood, the same misogynistic view of women that I am sorry to say a lot of men have.

Pic chart correction

SIR, I write in response to Jenny Titmuss' letter, "Three errors in pie chart" (Star, October 7).

The label "Revenues and Benefits" in the pie chart relates to a major frontline council service responsible for collection of council tax and business rates (the council's revenues), the payment of housing and council tax benefit and the prevention of fraud.

The term "Revenues and Benefits" is the common term used by councils in England and Wales responsible for providing this function. Therefore, "revenues" relates to the cost of collecting the council's revenue or income. To put this in the context, out of the figure of £42.6m, £40.3m relates to the cost of the benefits paid out.

The pie chart gives residents an idea of how much we spend on the main services we provide, like benefits, recycling, street cleaning,

Join fight against homes

SIR, Taylor Wimpey's crazy aim of building another 1,200 homes to house 3,000 more people at Gilden Way, one of the most traffic grid-locked parts of Harlow, is madness.

Doubtless, given the green light by the East of England Development Agency's planned 16,000 more homes (40,000 more people) in Harlow over 11 years to 2021, this is no more than a developer's profits feeding frenzy on our town – at the cost of ever more traffic chaos, loss of green space and our quality of life.

Yet the good news is that the Government has revoked our local plan, these mammoth proposals do not have to go ahead, we can fight them.

This planned, unsustainable estate would disgorge over 2,000 more vehicles into the daily bumper-to-bumper traffic jam that too often gridlocks accident-prone Gilden Way, log jams dangerous Churchgate Street, packed with school children, then ram raids its way through the Mark Hall school and A414 bottleneck, also jamming Old Harlow, Mark Hall North and First Avenue to the town centre with traffic.

It means another 600 children needing schools that we don't have and another 3,000 people clamouring for services, healthcare, infrastructure, roads and jobs that Harlow doesn't have to spare.

parcs, leisure and community facilities. 'Other' expenditure of £10.1m covers a number of smaller items of spending which could not be easily grouped together in the pie chart and relate to different areas of the council.

This expenditure includes the cost of topping up the pension fund (£2.7m), housing options and advice but not the cost of running the council's housing stock (£1.1m), managing and maintaining the council's non-housing properties (£0.8m), regeneration (£0.7m), corporate management (£0.7m), Contact Harlow (£0.6m), grant aid (£0.5m), councillors (£0.4m), advice services (£0.2m) and town centre and market (£0.1m).

Ms Titmuss spotted an error with the key for the pie chart and I would like to thank her for bringing this to our attention. The colours on the key for 'Other' and 'Pools, Leisure & Community' are round the wrong way and this was completely unintentional. I am sorry for the confusion this has caused and can confirm that spend for 'Other' is £10.1m and 'Pools, Leisure & Community' is £6.7m.

Harlow was one of the first councils in Essex to publish its spending online and currently we are one of only 73 councils in the country to be doing this.

A great friend to all

SIR, We were very sorry to read in last week's Star the sad news that Richard Glover had passed away. For many years all of us have shared a great friendship with him.

Throughout the time we have known Mr Glover he has always been devoted to the local community. Mr Glover was a principled and passionate man that served his country in the Second World War. If it wasn't for brave individuals like Mr Glover we wouldn't live in the democracy we have today.

In the local community Mr Glover was also a passionate sports campaigner. As a keen Conservative he always helped the Old Harlow Conservative Association and we will never forget his contribution over so many years.

As a larger-than-life character, Mr Glover was much-loved and respected by all who met him. We know that as a devoted family

The fat cat developers will claim these are vital, affordable homes to reduce Harlow's housing waiting list. Well, sorry, we fell for that spin regarding New Hall and Church Langley – we won't fall for it again. Harlow's housing waiting list held 3,000 people before those were built to "reduce our waiting list", now it stands at 7,000 people, far too many of them the children of these new "waiting list reducing" estates.

This estate is not about affordable homes for Harlow people, these are executive homes for those with London-sized house sale cheques in their pockets. A few hundred token affordable homes will be built – doubtless with London rents – which is a drop in the ocean to our waiting list. The only real value this continuous development treadmill brings our town is more council tax clinking into the spiralling salaries and pensions of the privileged Town Hall rich lists.

No more unsustainable, unnecessary and undemocratic development in Harlow! If, like me you're sick of not being consulted, join me in demanding a consultation from our elected council on this by emailing colleen.morrison@nthworld.com

Echoing parking perils

SIR, I thought I had experienced a senior moment when I saw a reader's letter in the September 30 edition of the Star. Had I submitted a letter without without remembering? No, it was by a fellow Titlends resident whose sentiments on car parking echoed mine exactly (and a lot of my neighbours). If you do manage to park your car within running distance of your house (trainers required or stout walking shoes), you are then left with the dilemma of whether it will be clipped by a van or some such undomesticated vehicle.

A sharp eye and fleetness of foot is required in the race to move your motor nearer to home when a spot becomes vacant. It can be done provided you're not tripped up by a wayward dog, but that's another story.

Flo Rayment
Titlends, Harlow

Food for thought

SIR, Civic dinner? Come on, everybody loves a knees up, a slap up meal, the opportunity to prance about in your best bib and tucker – and if there's a chance to rub shoulders with the great and the good and the social elite and tell them how wonderful Harlow is, despite the slashing and burning of its community services, all the better.

But isn't there an issue of appropriateness and restraint, or are those words that don't exist in the local lexicon of our Conservative councillors?

It's interesting that HM The Queen has cancelled her Christmas staff party, "acutely aware of the difficult economic circumstances facing the country".

If Buckingham Palace can act with propriety is it too much to ask Clr Johnson and his colleagues to do likewise, or did they learn nothing after their "wheelie bin bash"?

Halfon loses fight for cut to Europe budget

By CHRIS MOSS

chris.moss@hertssexnews.co.uk

HARLOW MP Robert Halfon has urged his own Government to cut the amount of cash the UK dishes out to the EU.

Mr Halfon was one of more than 30 Conservative MPs who backed a motion by Eurosceptics calling for a substantial reduction to the £4.7 billion the country currently contributes to the European Commission's budget.

But following a three-hour Commons debate the amendment was defeated by 252 votes to 42, with MPs instead supporting a payment freeze.

It was the first time Mr Halfon has voted against the Government in his short Parliamentary career and the MP admitted he took the decision "reluctantly".

"I felt that more needed to be done to register discontent," he said. "It is not good enough to just freeze the EU budget. At a time when the economy is in crisis our budgetary contribution to the EU should not be rising."

"Although the Government said they were fighting for a budgetary freeze in future years, my own belief is that the budget should be cut substantially."

"If all Government departments are having to make cuts rather than just freeze existing budgets, why should the EU not have its budget cut substantially too?"

Brussels is pushing for a 5.9 per cent increase to the Commission's 2011 budget – taking the total to £114 billion – and MEPs are expected to back the plans in a vote next week.

But the Government recently joined other EU member states in condemning the proposals, with Chancellor George Osborne branding the demands "unacceptable" at a time when taxpayers are bearing the brunt of public service cuts.

APPEAL: the collection teams loads a donated sofa.

Wanted: furniture to help hospice fund care

A LOCAL charity is urging residents to dig deep and donate unwanted furniture to its fundraising shops. St Clare Hospice, based in Hastingwood, is appealing for residents to part with any good-quality furniture to help raise the £3.2 million it needs each year to cover running costs. Louise Hamilton, retail sales manager for St Clare Hospice, said: "In the current climate the demand for good quality, second-hand furniture has never been greater.

"Sadly, the supply of donations has dwindled because people just don't change their furniture as frequently, plus we now have to compete with national charities for furniture donations."

To make donations easier, the hospice runs a free collection service six times a week covering the whole of West Essex and the border of East Herts.

Louise added: "We have just one van, therefore it may take a few days for furniture to be viewed and collected, so to avoid disappointment we ask donors to give as much notice as possible when offering donated furniture."

If you would like to donate to the hospice, or to find out more information, email shops@stclarehospice.org.uk, call (01279) 773732 for the retail office or (01279) 639752 for the distribution team.

Silver lining to snow warning

HARLOW residents should brace themselves for a cold winter this year, with frequent snow showers expected to cause chaos on roads and railways.

The Essex Weather Centre has warned of widespread disruption to transport and communication services, due to start next month, as the county suffers a cold end to 2010.

Tom Defty, chief forecaster at the centre, said: "Harlow has already seen the early signs of winter this week with overnight frosts and low temperatures – all thanks to a short-lived Arctic blast."

"By late November, high pressure situated to the north of the British Isles will most likely bring the first widespread snowfall to the area."

The news will heap more misery on commuters facing the prospect of more cancelled services along with a hike in the price of tickets.

Last year's pre-Christmas snowfalls caused chaos on the roads and railways during the coldest and snowiest winter endured by Harlow residents since 1978/79.

Last winter, snow fell on average on 35 days in Essex while temperatures plummeted to lows of -6 deg C.

But there is light at the end of the tunnel with milder weather expected by January as warmer fronts from the Atlantic push the cold conditions east.

Mr Defty said: "The change to milder conditions will happen at some point in late December into January."

"Overall, the 2010/11 winter will likely end up as slightly above the long-term average."

Splashing out £155k to build new town pool

By DAN PHILLIPS
daniel.phillips@hertsessex
news.co.uk

WITH work due to start soon on the demolition of the old swimming pool site in First Avenue, the building's foundation stone has now been handed back to Harlow Council.

To find out more about when the stone was first laid, Nostalgia delved into the archives of the Museum of Harlow to turn back the clock to 1960.

In March of that year the local press reported that Councillor E.W. Buckle, chairman of Harlow Urban District Council, conducted the ceremonies at the site. Cllr Buckle said the new pool would be a great boon to the town and residents would not grudge what they had to pay for it. Councillor W. Fisher recalled the "long and arduous battle" over seven years to get permission to build the pool, during which time the cost had risen from £70,000 to £155,000.

The brakes had been put on the project in 1957 when the Government restricted such projects.

"This is rather a pity for the ratepayers but things do work out that way," he told the assembled dignitaries.

"You can't blame the council for this one."

After the speeches the foundation stone bearing the inscription "This stone was laid by Cllr E.W. Buckle, chairman of Harlow Urban District Council, 5th March, 1960" was lowered into place.

It was reported that Cllr Buckle gave it eight sharp taps with a maul, placed a spirit level on the top and proclaimed: "It's exactly right."

The chairman had said that the pool would be open by April 1961 but the pool wasn't officially opened until August of that year. The opening ceremony was performed by Christopher Mayhew MP, who described the pool as "beautiful, with wonderful proportions and a lovely choice of colour".

A fanfare by four State trumpeters of the Life Guards opened a gala featuring the region's top swimming and diving talent. The evening was watched by dignitaries from around the country and even a visiting group from Harlow's twin town of Stavanger in Norway.

NOSTALGIA UPDATE: Norman Wisdom

READER Sue Overton has been in touch to tell us a moving story about Sir Norman Wisdom's appearance at the Harlow Playhouse back in the 1980s.

Sue, of Vicarage Wood, contacted us to say she attended Norman's one man show with her mother, Alice, in 1989.

"He was absolutely wonderful," she said. "And at the finale everyone stood up, clapped and cheered vigorously and most even shed a few tears."

"The entire experience was highly charged with laughter and high emotions."

TV cameras recorded the performance and Sue still owns a video of the show. "I class it as one of my most treasured possessions," she said, "especially as mum was diagnosed with lung cancer shortly after this outing and sadly this was to be our last venture to the theatre together."

"As long as my mind holds firm, that evening will be a memory I will always think back to with love and joy. I am so thankful that mum and I shared this happy experience."

Before then, Sue had the opportunity to meet the comedy legend while working for the Harlow Gazette but unfortunately it wasn't to be.

"While employed by the Gazette I was presented with an amazing opportunity which involved photographing and interviewing Norman at the Playhouse," she said.

"Sadly on the day of the event he felt poorly, resulting in the appointment being cancelled."

STC has denied rumours of compulsory redundancies following a statement about the redeployment of 80 staff in the relay section. "We're just tightening our purse strings," said a spokeswoman. "Jobs are not being threatened."

Night shelter blow

The voluntary group running the night shelter at Faircroft is to give up its involvement with the scheme. A spokesman said difficulty finding people to work nights was one of many reasons for the decision.

Musical discord

Young musicians have been given a Christmas deadline to pay rent or be barred from the schools they use for rehearsals. Harlow Music Schools Association was given the ultimatum by Essex County Council.

Woman's fury after dog savages pet cat

A HARLOW grandmother has been left heartbroken after a dog killed her nine-month-old kitten.

Chris Clayden told the Star a rampaging mastiff-cross-breed savaged her "irreplaceable" black and white cat Toulouse.

The attack occurred in the front garden of Mrs Clayden's Archers home last Sunday after the dog appeared without its owner.

"Toulouse was just outside minding his own business," she said. "The kitten wasn't afraid of dogs because he lived with my Springer spaniel.

"The dog chased him into a hedge before clamping its jaws around Toulouse and shaking him violently like a rag doll - he didn't stand a chance."

Mrs Clayden was not at home at the time of the brutal attack, but it was witnessed by a boy and girl who were walking past.

"They were absolutely hysterical," she said. "The boy tried to get the dog off the cat and eventually the dog ran off."

The pair then took the dead cat to her neighbour's house before the dog appeared again. The neighbour managed to put it on a lead before calling a dog pound.

Mrs Clayden learned about the attack when she returned home from work.

"Toulouse was such a beautiful, good-natured kitten," she said. "I've been told that the dog was known to the dog pound - meaning it must have been let loose before.

"I just can't let this go - what if it had been a child?"

Despite police initially telling Mrs Clayden that they could not prosecute the dog's owner, following enquiries from the Star an Essex Police spokeswoman said they were now investigating the incident under the Dangerous Dogs Act 1991.

Apprentice Andy off to Commons

APPRENTICE Andy Huckle has been officially welcomed to Parliament as he starts his new job working for Harlow MP Robert Halfon.

The Harlow College student has become the first paid apprentice ever appointed by an MP.

While studying for his level 3 apprenticeship in business administration at the Velizy Avenue college, Andy will assist the MP with constituency correspondence, database management and research. He will be paid £95 per week for his part-time role, which is being sponsored by Essex County Council and Dean Barclay, local property entrepreneur and co-owner of Harlow Greyhound Stadium.

"It's a once in a lifetime opportunity and I'm really excited about learning the ropes," he said.

Mr Halfon said he was delighted to have the 20-year-old on board.

"I have long believed that a higher profile should be given to apprentices and apprenticeship schemes and I am pleased the Government has introduced a policy to create 100,000 extra apprenticeships every year."

He added: "Andy is an exceptional individual who will make a real success of his role."

Andy secured his role through the county council's Essex Apprenticeship scheme, which has to date placed 889 apprentices in industries including engineering and manufacturing, construction and IT across Essex.

Fresh ideas go to online vote

Are you a budding entrepreneur?

It's time to shout about your ideas....

INNOVATIVE business competition Launch Pad reaches its final stages this week – meaning YOU will soon be able to cast your votes!

For the past few months, Bryan Hunt, of local property specialists Clarke Hillyer, has been urging budding entrepreneurs to come forward with their ideas for new businesses, products and events.

Bryan said: "The response has been fantastic.

"A wide range of different people from Harlow and the surrounding areas have come forward with some wonderful – and some slightly wacky – ideas for businesses and products.

"We are now at the short-listing stage and have started to call applicants in to pitch their ideas to the panel of experts.

"The pitch presentations will be filmed by students from Harlow College, who were keen to be involved with Launch Pad and are as excited as we are to see the results."

The finalists will be revealed weekly online at www.launchpad-harlow.org and in the pages of the Star, giving you the opportunity to vote for your favourite idea.

The entrant with the most public votes each week will then go through to the grand final, which will be judged by a panel of local business experts.

To register your vote, log onto www.launchpad-harlow.org, watch the video presentations each week and then cast your vote – it's that simple!

All votes will be cast online, so register today and make yours count!

Armless pianist wins talent show

A MUSICIAN who learned to play the piano with his toes because he has no arms has triumphed over adversity to win the Chinese version of TV show Britain's Got Talent.

Liu Wei (23), pictured left, who lost both arms following a childhood accident, performed a moving version of James Blunt's You're Beautiful to a packed audience at the grand final of China's Got Talent at Shanghai Stadium.

Crowning him as the show's champion, the panel of judges praised Mr Liu for his determination and urged him to keep pursuing his dreams.

The brave Beijing resident replied that he would always try his best, adding: "At least I have a pair of perfect legs."

Following his victory, the young pianist was invited to play as a guest performer with Taiwanese superstar singer Jolin Tsai. He could also secure a lucrative performing contract.

Mr Liu's arms were amputated after he suffered an electrical shock while playing hide-and-seek when he was just 10 years old.

He decided to pursue a career in music at 18, using his feet to play the piano in much the same way he uses them to play on his computer, eat, dress and brush his teeth.

WIN All you need for that cosy night in

WITH the winter evenings drawing in, who can resist the thought of spending a cosy night at home in front of the television.

This week we have teamed up with Newman's Own to give you the chance of winning one of SEVEN sets of everything you need to do just that – a fantastic retro popcorn maker, some popping corn, a Paul Newman DVD box set and, of course, some delicious Newman's Own goodies.

When it's cold outside there's nothing better than spending an evening with good company, a good film and good food. It doesn't cost the earth and it's a great way to spend some quality time with friends and family.

Newman's Own dressings and marinades aren't just for summer – they taste wonderful in warm wintry dishes, too.

Try marinating a steak in Sticky BBQ Hickory Marinade before grilling and serving with chunky chips and peas or stir some garlicky Ranch Dressing into hot pasta with bacon or flaked haddock.

Newman's Own balsamic and Italian dressings are perfect for warm salads with griddled prawns or chicken, or even drizzled over roasted vegetables.

Whatever your favourite meal, just be creative – that's what the late actor Paul Newman did when he came up with the recipes for his delicious range.

He made his first batch of dressing in an old bath tub before bottling it up as gifts for friends and family.

Due to the popularity of the dressing, he decided to sell them and donate all the profits to charity.

To be in with a chance of getting your hands on some of these tasty dressings and marinades, along with the popcorn maker and DVDs, all you have to do is answer the simple question in the entry coupon and send it to Star Newman's Own Competition, PO Box 268, Cambridge CB24 6HF. The closing date for entries is Thursday, October 28.

Alternatively, you can enter via the dedicated competition link on our website at www.harlowstar.co.uk. Make sure you enter Newman's Own Competition in the competition name line or your entry will be discounted. Usual Herts & Essex Newspapers rules apply.

Mum is cleared of canteen cash theft

A HARLOW secondary school catering manager wept in court as she was cleared of stealing money from the canteen's tills.

A jury at Chelmsford Crown Court took just under five hours to find former Passmores School employee Carol Austin (51) not guilty last Thursday.

The court had been told that Mrs Austin, of Queensway, Shelley Ongar, was regularly seen taking money from the till and giving it to her teenage son who sometimes visited her at the school.

However, she pleaded not guilty to the theft of £1,410.63 between 21 September and 23 October 2008.

Prosecutor Deborah Champion had told the court: "Work colleagues at the school say that her son, who is in his late teens, was a regular visitor to her at the school and she was seen on a regular basis to take money from the till and hand it to him."

"She would explain that as saying she didn't have change and would put it right later."

However, the court was told by investigating officer PC Georgette Beckett that the system for dealing with the canteen's takings was "pretty chaotic".

Giving evidence, Mrs Austin – who managed the canteen for four years – broke down in tears and told the jury: "I think they all hated me."

She claimed she was stressed after working long days with no assistant to cater for an increasing number of functions.

"It made me more abrasive," she added.

She claimed that in September 2008 only three of the four tills were used to her knowledge. She would tip the money into a margarine tub before counting it into bags in the kitchen. She would then fill in the banking slips in her office later.

Mrs Austin also told the court pupils and staff would often put in IOUs. She would trust a student to repay it the next day and would ring it in and take it out of the float, sometimes paying it herself.

She added that before September she reported that someone was taking money out of a till, but denied ever pocketing any money herself.

Skate surprise!

LUCKY youngsters were wheely pleased after scooping new skateboards in a competition run by Harlow's Harvey Centre.

Keen skateboarder Owen Howe (6), of Ryecroft, and novice Jade Killick (10), of Northbrooks

Nicola said: "It was great to meet Owen and Jade who were both delighted with their win and looking forward to getting out on Harlow's skatepark."

Online sports shop activelifestore.com donated five top-of-the-range boards for the competition. Harlow youngsters Spencer Cross (6) and Bill Archer (7) and Colchester resident Emma Lane also won skateboards.

Lotto cash boost for stroke group

STROKE survivors and their carers are set to benefit from a £180,000 grant from the Big Lottery Fund.

Harlow Stroke Support Group has received the cash which will allow it to expand its current work in the town and the surrounding area.

"At present we have a total member list of 185 members so receiving this Lottery grant means a great deal to a lot of people who may only have us as their support system," said HSSG support worker Jean Miley.

The Wych Elm-based group offers information, support, social events and friendship to stroke survivors and their carers. The aim is to help overcome isolation, communication difficulties and low self confidence.

Jean said: "Stroke is the largest cause of disability and it can affect you physically and mentally. We help to support and encourage stroke survivors to live an independent life and help them to regain their confidence and self worth."

"Stroke has affected our members in lots of different ways. Some cannot walk and are now in a wheelchair while some have lost their ability to speak even a few words."

"Short-term memory can be affected so you

daniel.phillips@hertsessexnews.co.uk

can't remember what you've done only yesterday. And, of course, it can kill."

HSSG runs a weekly group at the Great Parndon Community Centre, in Abercrombie Way, for those with communication problems. The session shows them other ways to communicate such as drawing, gesturing, and using props.

Jean added: "They can learn these useful tips in a friendly atmosphere where everyone is in the same boat, so people feel less self conscious."

"We also have a weekly social group so members can leave the house and join in with their peers."

The grant comes from the Big Lottery Fund's Reaching Communities programme which aims to help those most in need and build stronger communities.

Fund spokeswoman Sara Betsworth said: "We are delighted to be able to fund the Harlow Stroke Support Group. This project shows how the Reaching Communities programme continues to make a real difference in helping disadvantaged people across the east of England improve their lives."

Residents in need of a piano player

CALLING all pianists – do you have a bit of spare time for a sing-song with some of Harlow's older folk?

Residents at the sheltered housing block in Tynley Croft need someone to tickle the ivories for them after an upright piano was donated by resident Joan Cook.

Resident Alf Brill (93) said: "Joan very generously gave the piano for our common room but unfortunately it is just sitting there because nobody can play it."

"We're hoping that among the readers of the Star there will be someone who can play some songs from the '60s, '70s and '80s or even wartime for us."

"Music sessions could be arranged at the volunteer's convenience."

Anyone interested in playing the piano for the group should call Mr Brill on (01279) 303696.

Bus 'hero' appeal

HARLOW residents are being asked to nominate their favourite bus drivers who go the extra mile in serving their passengers.

Bus company Arriva is running the competition to reward committed staff as part of its National Company Service Week.

Winners of the contest will be given free bus tickets for Arriva.

Linsey Frostick, from Arriva Shires and Essex, said: "We've heard of bus drivers digging stranded cars out of the snow and generally going out of their way to help customers and these are exactly the kind of stories we want to hear about."

"Our bus heroes will be presented with a prize during a special ceremony to celebrate their achievements."

Anyone who wishes to nominate a bus hero should visit www.arrivabus.co.uk/busheroes for more information.

Hospice hair-raiser

A THRILLING night of scary fun and surprises is promised at Harlow Friends of St Clare Hospice's fundraising 'Fright Night' at the Great Parndon Community Centre on Saturday.

The evening, which starts at 7.30pm, will include live music from band Phase, a finger buffet, raffle and prizes for the best fancy dress.

All the proceeds will be donated to the Hastingwood hospice. Tickets cost £16 and are available by calling Sandra on (01279) 438504 or 433644.

Street 'walk' talk

A WALK with the Admiral will be the subject of Harlow Civic Society's autumn talk at the Museum of Harlow tonight (Thursday).

Starting at 7.30pm, the talk by Richard Thomas will cover the history of a suburban street from the earliest settlement up to the present.

Non-members are welcome and the cost of admission is £2.

Nursery's gift to children's ward

A DAY care nursery has donated £1,200 to the children's ward at Harlow's Princess Alexandra Hospital following a successful fundraising event.

Staff from Kiddi Caru presented the proceeds of a fun day held earlier in the year for children and parents to Dolphin Ward.

Rachel Naunton, play specialist at the hospital, said: "We are extremely grateful for the donation and would like to thank everyone involved in raising the money for the department."

The cash will be spent on either a new wheelchair for patients or on purchasing soft flooring for the new state-of-the-art sensory room which is currently being built.

Your stars with Patrick Arundell to guide you through the week ahead

Aries Mar 21-Apr 20
You might do something utterly unpredictable this week or life may deal you an unexpected but exciting opportunity, so be on your toes because you may have to react quickly. This may involve another person. If your usual instinct is to go it alone or maintain your independence, this may be challenging, but perhaps it's time to show greater trust towards others. Call me for more advice...

Libra Sept 24-Oct 23
The Sun and Mercury get together in Libra, and this combination can bring an undoubted sparkle to your situation. Whether you impress with your stylish dress sense, bright personality or creativity, you can turn heads. Fun of all kinds can be intoxicating and it can be you leading from the front. However, your sweet tooth or love of rich foods may get the better of you. Call now for your in-depth forecast...

Taurus Apr 21-May 21
Knowing where you stand in situations gives you a warm glow. But Uranus has, along with Jupiter, been pushing you to welcome fresh and enlivening influences into your situation. This week Mars comes along and electrifies this combination, and it can lead to some very surprising encounters, switch backs and developments - especially romantically - get ready! Call for your love scope...

Scorpio Oct 24-Nov 22
If you have recently signed up to a personal development course or you are receiving counselling of any kind, this can be an enriching time. Blockages can be worn down, though you may have to submit yourself to the process to really benefit. Yet someone close to you may remain unconvinced. Don't try too hard to win them around, but being considerate will help. Call your prediction line for more...

Gemini May 22-Jun 21
A job opportunity can crop up in a sector you have never worked in before or one where more responsibility can fall on you. You can dazzle at an interview with both your personality and your drive. But don't give the answers that you think are expected of you. If you think you could make a difference then speak up. Your novel approach can impress much more. Call me for more news...

Sagittarius Nov 23-Dec 21
A pick-up in your social situation is possible, but you are likely to still be feeling tentative and even a little wary of whom you spend time with. Confidences also need care this week. If you have delicate issues going on, try to keep it to just those who need to know. Ignore too, any spiteful gossip that you hear. Such whispers may not be true anyway. Sagittarius. Call me now for more news and advice...

Cancer Jun 22-Jul 23
Yes, you certainly can be the rock that welds many a family or firm together and your instincts for making sure that all the basics are in order, are well attuned this week. But there is also a sense within you that you need more exhilaration in your life. These may be opposite energies, so the trick is letting them co-exist, but if anyone can, it is resourceful you Cancer! Call for more astral advice...

Capricorn Dec 22-Jan 20
Keep a clear head around your worldly interactions. Make your moves after carefully weighing up your options. It's not like you to be impetuous, yet with Mars and Uranus spurring one another on, if you get an idea in your head, you may be in the mood to go for it. This can make you exhilarating company to be with, but don't indulge a friend. Offer practical support instead. Call now for more...

Leo Jul 24-Aug 23
You might change your mind about something this week. This could be some furnishings that you were all set to order or the plans for the family Christmas. But the refreshing thing is that if you do, it's because you're going with the flow, thinking on your feet and being less worried about looking daft, if things don't go to plan. This is when you are at your best. Call for your in-depth forecast...

Aquarius Jan 21-Feb 19
You have a quirky side, and this week you can feel much less inhibited about showing it. This can see you wow someone with your dynamism and unique take on life or see you score a success with a punt or venture linked to technology or the public. Yet because you can be idealistic, not everyone you encounter will share your values, do prepare yourself for this. Call now for your in-depth forecast...

Virgo Aug 24-Sept 23
Why not spring a surprise on a loved one? This could come from turning up unannounced on their doorstep or booking dinner for your partner, but keeping it from them, until the very last minute. You can also be very dexterous when it comes to shuffling cash between accounts or paying off credit cards. You can be determined to snaffle some better rates and you can! Call for your financial scope...

Pisces Feb 20-Mar 20
Your long term finances may have taken a hit earlier this month, but with tenacity and imagination, your industry can start to pay off. Though astrologers often describe Pisces as gentle folk, you can also possess a steely determination. This can be fired up now and can see you awesome. You'll be much less concerned about any doubters around you. Good for you if so! Call now for more news...

Bard classic gets a comedy makeover

SEE the Bard's tragic tale of star-crossed lovers Romeo and Juliet as you've never seen it before when a local am-dram group stages a hilarious comic adaptation of the Shakespeare classic next month.

With a sly dig at the coalition government and a quirky nod to upcoming GCSE exams, Moot House Players' production of Peter Ustinov's side-splitting spoof Romanoff & Juliet will open on November 11.

While the play is set in a tiny but strategically vital middle European country which "governs by coalitions", it is also a wry parody of Shakespeare's much-loved tragedy – which happens to be a current

chris.moss@hertssexnews.co.uk

English GCSE set work for many Harlow students.

While the plot will be familiar to most – boy meets girl, they fall in love and both sets of parents oppose the marriage – add a dash of comic ingenuity to the madcap mix and the complications and comedy cascade into the cooking pot.

In Ustinov's skewed re-imagining of the tale, the fair Juliet already has a fiancé while Romanoff's parents are, unbeknownst to him, finalising an arranged marriage with a ship's captain.

As if the lovers' chances of happy ever after weren't looking remote enough, it then emerges that the girl's father is the American ambassador and her beau's senior his Russian counterpart – and both are pushing for trade sanctions as the Cold War erupts. Director Rosemary Caswell said: "Peter Ustinov's take on Shakespeare's Romeo and Juliet theme is hilarious but never predictable and is as full of twists as a corkscrew."

"GCSE students may like to come along and experience a more light-hearted version of the great Shakespearean tragedy."

● Romanoff & Juliet opens at Moot Hall in The Stow on Thursday, November 11 and runs until Saturday, November 13. Performances start at 8pm and tickets cost £8 (£6 unwaged) from (01279) 639170.

Dance show fizzed with energy and talent

REVIEW

ELECTRICITY
The Brenda Taylor School of Dance
Harlow Playhouse

IF ever a show lived up to its name, this was it. Electricity was simply electric from start to finish.

Brenda Taylor School of Dance's performance in its 45th year was outstanding and the fact the matinee performance was a sell-out summed up the enduring popularity of their productions.

This show had it all – ballet, tap, jazz, folk dance, song and drama – and from the amusing Good Ship Lollipop routine to the beautiful Winter Ballet with soloist Jo Colley (and impressive snow special effects) the talented young performers impressed.

Also worth special mention were the beautiful voices of teenagers Cara Oldroyd-Jones and Hannah Duncan Lane, accompanied by pianist Duncan Lane, held the audience spellbound.

Choreography and costumes were worthy of a West End production and the excellent training of these students showed why this school is still held in such high esteem. Peter Harpin's lighting design was likewise very impressive and showed great understanding of the choreography and mood of each number.

Assisting school head Brenda with the outstanding choreography were school dance tutors Kathryn Taylor, Maria

Brown and Odette Perdrisat, all former pupils of the school who have gone on to perform at the highest level, appearing on stage in the West End and even on the silver screen.

Having watched the younger students of today, I am convinced that many others will deservedly follow in their footsteps.

Why good presentation is the key to selling your home

Despite challenging market conditions this autumn, house sellers should not be discouraged providing they ensure they enhance their property's unique selling points, according to a leading local estate agency.

Shawn Meakins Manager of haart of Harlow said: "It is now more important than ever sellers invest both time and money in ensuring their property's key features are highlighted to potential buyers.

"In this tough market, excellent presentation has never been more crucial. It is all about improving marketability and ensuring a property stands out. It is often hard to view your property through a buyer's eyes and this is where the advice and objectivity of a good estate agent comes into play," he said.

Haart recommends that potential sellers rectify any problems which could detract buyers immediately.

Basic repairs and redecoration should be carried out where necessary and gardens and outside spaces should be immaculate. Internally, clutter should be removed, rooms restored back to their original purpose (for example a spare bedroom might currently be used for storage) and old shabby furniture replaced.

Haart also advises that as the kitchen is now frequently seen by buyers as one of the most important rooms in a home, it is often worth investing in improvements.

Mr Meakins added: "Small details such as fresh flowers and a lick of paint count, and simple inexpensive renovations such as repairing peeling windows can add instant kerb appeal. If a property appears unkempt and uncared for, buyers will be put off immediately.

"It is also vital to ensure that the property is priced correctly, and again this is where the skill and knowledge of a good estate agent such as us is so crucial.

"We are always honest with vendors and our aim is to ensure that they sell their property at the best price possible and quickly.

"Nicely presented properties always attract interest and even in this climate, sellers can still achieve a good price."

BOOST FOR BUYERS AT BARRATT'S FIFTH AVENUE, HARLOW

FIRST-TIME buyers in Harlow have been handed a second chance to move into a new home with a minimal deposit after a further funding release for the HomeBuy Direct scheme.

Thousands of people across the country have taken advantage of the Government-backed scheme, which enables buyers to move in for 70 per cent of the price.

Chris Scarborough, sales director for Barratt North London, comments: "We are delighted to secure additional Kickstart funding for our three bedroom properties at Fifth Avenue. The HomeBuy Direct scheme has been extremely successful in Harlow, making homeownership a reality for many who'd been priced out of the market for years."

HomeBuy Direct is not just for first time buyers struggling to get onto the property ladder, it's also available to key workers, and people who have previously owned properties but who are now unable to buy without assistance; for example in the case of relationship breakdowns, or families who are over-crowded in their existing homes.

Prospective buyers, whose household income does not exceed £60,000, can apply for HomeBuy Direct, which offers them the chance to buy a brand new home for 70 per cent of the price with a 30 per cent loan provided by Barratt and the government's Homes & Communities Agency.

There is no interest to pay on the equity stake for the first five years and since the mortgage is smaller, monthly repayments should be more affordable.

Chris adds: "The additional funding is only available on a limited number of homes at Fifth Avenue and judging by the strong demand we've already experienced, I would advise anyone interested in HomeBuy Direct to contact us as soon as possible as we will be operating on a first come first served basis."

Fifth Avenue, conveniently located on the edge of Harlow town offers an attractive mixture of house types from one and two-bedroom apartments to two, three, four and five-bedroom houses. Within close proximity to the train station, the development is ideal for those who commute to London or need close access to Harlow town centre.

Homes currently available with Kickstart at Fifth Avenue include three-bedroom houses priced from £265,000. For more information, and to apply for Homebuy Direct, please visit the sales and marketing suite and showhomes, open daily from 10am to 6pm, at Fifth Avenue, Gladwin Way off Allende Avenue, Harlow, Essex, CM20 2JF or call 01279 641168. www.barratthomes.co.uk

Aston celebrates racing glory

By Iain Dooley

ASTON Martin doesn't do half measures. When the company says that its products are thoroughbred sports cars it really means it. To prove the point it has taken to occasionally racing the stuff it makes. Recent years have seen Aston Martin compete in the popular Nurburgring 24-hour endurance race with road registered Vantages.

And after securing a string of class victories, you can't blame Aston Martin from wanting to make a fuss.

As a way of celebrating, it has produced a special edition V8 Vantage – the N420. This isn't the company's first effort – there was also 2007's N400 – but it's clear the N420 is not a cynical attempt to cash in on racing glory.

The detailed changes made to the V8 Vantage donor car are enough to make this special edition, well, special.

In true race car tradition the N420 is louder than a regular Vantage. No mean feat in itself, the 4.7-litre V8 powering the Vantage family is already a vocal participant. The N420's sports exhaust not only allows the V8 to breathe more freely but also generates a harder edged tone that befits a car with a proven

Engine: 4.7-litre petrol V8 unit developing 420bhp
Transmission: 6-speed manual transmission driving rear wheels
Performance: Maximum speed 180mph, 0-62mph 4.8 seconds
Economy: 21.4mpg (combined)
CO₂ rating: 312g/km

racing pedigree.

That the sonic enhancement can be heard lower down the rev range is a welcome bonus. Remember, for all its leather and plush trimmings, the N420 is more than capable of hitting the track and turning in respectable lap times. All that's missing is a roll cage and other safety paraphernalia.

With the N420's V8 motor unchanged from the donor Vantage, 420 horsepower remains good enough in the real world to see the wrong side of the national speed limit in no time at all. The sprint to 62mph takes a brisk 4.8 seconds and it all stops at 180mph – on a track, of course. But the numbers only tell half the story. The subtle changes to the Vantage have resulted in a useful change in the car's character. Much of the credit for this must go to the 27kg weight reduction programme and the inclusion of Aston's Sports Pack.

The former sees carbon fibre used for the car's lightweight seats and the likes of the front aerodynamic splitter and rear diffuser. The Sports Pack is a carefully chosen bundle of revisions to the springs, dampers and anti roll bars, and it's these changes that see an immediate improvement to the car's agility. Yes, the ride is now a little firmer but the steering is more accurate and responsive. Thankfully there's still enough suspension compliance on battered B-roads to make a countryside drive fun, although it's on larger arterial roads where the N420 shines.

Simply put, the N420 is an engaging and intoxicating experience. You sit low down in those figure-hugging carbon seats and the N420's compact size ensures a level of agility that's hard to find in the some rivals that claim to be performance cars but are really bloated Grand Tourers.

Opt for Aston's Sportshift gearbox over the standard fit six-speed manual transmission and you're another step closer to that full-on race car experience. This 'semi-auto' unit is essentially a manual box with the clutch action automated for your convenience and to reduce gearchange times.

The fully auto mode does a good job but taking personal charge of shifting via the column mounted paddles is the way to go. You'll need to feather the throttle to smooth the gearshifts, but getting it right is a rewarding experience. It works best with a fair few revs dialled in and it's when you're really motoring that you fully appreciate the gearbox's advantages.

Far from being a bone-jarring experience, the N420 is an impressively rounded performer, certainly in the context of a fast and focused road car. The steering's wonderfully direct feel and the car's rasping and occasionally shrieking exhaust note are just two of the many highlights.

Predictably, there's a modest cost premium associated with the N420 over a regular Vantage before you add the Sportshift gearbox. Only you and your bank manager will be able to make that judgment call.

That said, all that extra carbon fibre doesn't come cheap and the associated performance enhancements are genuine improvements.

Viewed as a whole, the N420 is a worthwhile addition to the V8 Vantage line-up and for someone with even a passing interest in the GT racing scene, well worth the extra outlay.

Scrap

End of the road for your vehicle?

Responsible drivers scrap their vehicles at an Authorised Treatment Facility (ATF).

Because only an ATF can legally scrap a vehicle. That means any pollutants will be made safe before it's recycled in an environmentally friendly way.

What's more, for certain types of vehicle you'll get a DVLA approved Certificate of Destruction (CoD). A CoD proves that the ATF has told DVLA your vehicle has been scrapped and so is no longer your responsibility. www.direct.gov.uk/motoring

Harlow get county cup off to a flyer

A GOOD first quarter was pivotal to Harlow Hawks opening their Herts County Cup group stage with a home win over Hertfordshire Warriors.

Hawks started well on Friday and showed good intensity in defence and made it hard for Warriors to move the ball.

They also played with composure at the offensive end where Mark Haddow scored nine points.

Hawks led 20-9 going into the second quarter.

Hawks player-coach Shab Niaz then found his range scoring 14 points in the second period.

Despite the Warriors' good work, the Hawks were 43-30 up at the halfway stage.

In the third quarter, the Hawks were restricted to just two points in the first five minutes.

However, Haddow again came to the rescue by scoring some crucial baskets and free-throws.

He was backed up by Shab Niaz to keep the scoreboard ticking over.

Although the Warriors outscored the Hawks 16-11 in the quarter, Hawks led 54-46 going into the fourth and final quarter.

Both teams then took advantage of some sloppy defending for some easy scores.

Hawks twin towers of Haddow and Luke Atkinson dominated on the inside, getting the Warriors in foul trouble early on.

However, Warriors fought back and cut the hosts' lead to two points with three minutes to go.

Luke Atkinson and his brother Simon showed great composure and scored to give Harlow some breathing space.

Hawks' top scorer Shab Niaz killed the game off with a big three-point play at the end to seal victory.

The win puts Hawks in the driving seat in the group. HARLOW HAWKS: Shab Niaz (23pts), Haddow (16), L. Atkinson (11), Z. Niaz (8), S. Atkinson (5), Allan (4), Moss (4), Burgess, Jones.

Sad plight of squash players

MOVING ON: Harlow Squash Club players are switching clubs (HSP0687694)

HARLOW Squash Club players claim they have had to join neighbouring Broxbourne SC in order to continue playing in the Hertfordshire League.

The club says it is unable to play Herts League matches at the town's new sports centre, harlow leisurezone.

The club had played matches at the old sports centre in Hammarskjold Road since the 1970s.

John Tennant, a member of the squash club for more than 25 years, says players have quit harlow leisurezone, in Second Avenue, because it could not cater for its needs.

The club's teams that operate in the Hertfordshire League started to use harlow leisurezone for Herts Summer League matches from June until September.

However, the complex is not open long enough for the club to host matches properly, Tennant claims.

Matches can often go on until 9.30pm or even later and it is a League rule that hot food and alcohol must be provided after games by the home team.

Tennant said: "The problem is the new leisurezone closes at 10pm and there is not a proper bar, only a café that sells some expensive bottled beer and closes at 9pm.

"The leisurezone management said on matchdays we could stay until 10.30pm and the café would remain open until 10pm but this is still not adequate.

"The old Sportcentre closed at 11pm and although it did not have a bar during the latter years we were able to bring in our own food and drink which we are not allowed to do now."

Tennant added: "I started playing team squash in the early 1980s. We are all gutted about it. It's a crying shame that we have stopped playing [League squash] in Harlow."

Tennant said up to 10 players have joined Broxbourne. The Mill Lane club is several miles away but there are no other squash courts in Harlow.

A harlow leisurezone spokesman said: "We are surprised that Harlow Squash Club are in a position to make any comments as they have not discussed any of their issues with harlow leisurezone management.

"We would be very happy to meet with them to discuss any issues the club may have.

"Harlow leisurezone has since sent two reminders asking them to provide a convenient date and time for the meeting. To date we are still waiting to hear from them.

"Squash club evenings still run at leisurezone every Monday and Friday, which are well attended and all are welcome."

Conference players – but they are. Tom's pulling strings. The club's being run well and going the right way," Brown said.

Tough-tackling central midfielder Brown was at Orient for two years before making the £50,000 switch to Underhill in 1999. He has also played for Cambridge United, Oxford United and Crawley.

Brown was one of NINE players who have joined the club in the last six weeks, either on loan or permanently. "We are trying to bring a certain calibre of player," he said.

Brown said he thoroughly enjoyed his debut in the 3-2 FA Trophy win against Bedford Town, but expects it to be the first of many successes. "I hope everyone enjoyed it. Cup competitions are good for the club. I expect to win every football match – and the next league game," he said.

"We need to get together in training. We need to make us harder to beat. We are so open. We need to mix football with aggression and shape."

Brown could be called back to Eastbourne early if the side face a relegation battle.

They are currently 15th, three points off the drop zone.

"If they drop towards the bottom four then maybe they will call me back," added Brown.

● THE Hawks have been handed a home tie in the next round of the FA Trophy.

Harlow Town will host Ryman premier side Carshalton Athletic in the FA Trophy second round qualifying on Saturday October 30.

The draw was made at the FA headquarters on Monday.

Saturday's 3-2 victory against Bedford Town meant Harlow picked up £2,200 from the FA, available to all first round qualifying winners. They can get £3,000 in prize money if they beat Carshalton.

Stepping stone for 2012 Games

The 20-year-old, from Old Harlow, returned earlier this week from Delhi with four medals in his luggage.

He said: "It's a stepping stone to the Olympics. There was a lot of media attention compared to normal. If I had offered me four medals beforehand I would have bitten your hand off."

There was much media speculation about poor accommodation but Huckle was happy with the athletes' village, the shooting venue and the hospitality.

"They could not do enough for us. They are really helpful. Everything they put on was a high standard," he said.

"When I came out in February the venue was being completed. It's one of the best shooting ranges in the world.

"You had up to 3,000 athletes to accommodate in a small area. Every four rooms there was a lounge and people looked forward to going back to them."

Huckle gained silvers in the 50m rifle three-position and the 10m air rifle pairs with Kenny Parr, as well as bronze medals in the 10m air rifle individual event and 50m 3-position rifle category.

Roget rounds off a thriller!

Harlow Tn 3, Bedford Tn 2

FA Trophy, 1st round qualifying

By ALAN SCOTT

IT'S proving to be a rollercoaster ride for Hawks fans this season, but just hang on and enjoy the ride.

Harlow Town completely dominated against Bedford Town on Saturday. They play a step higher in the non-League pyramid.

But they somehow threw away two leads before captain marvel Leo Roget popped up to score a deserved 82nd-minute winner – and send the Hawks into the next round.

The hosts gave a debut to 30-year-old ex-Leyton Orient and Barnet midfielder Danny Brown, who has signed on a three-month loan from Blue Square South side Eastbourne.

Another new signing, striker Jamie Richards, had to be content with a place on the bench as Hawks chief Kevin Warren kept faith with his favoured 4-5-1 formation.

The Zamaretto premier division side were immediately on the back foot and Steve Ferguson's early shot produced a brilliant one-handed save from Eagles keeper Michael Kavanagh.

Clark Akers, who appears to be revelling in a new role on the left side of the midfield five, went past three players before unleashing a shot which fizzed past the upright near the half-hour mark.

Harlow finally got the goal their first-half efforts deserved on 42 minutes. Roget's header into the box deflected into Dave Cowley's path off the feet of Che Stadhart and the midfielder hit a wonderful volley into the right side of the goal.

But the Hawks were stung when Bedford equalised just 80 seconds into the second half.

Craig Daniel slipped the ball up to Josh Sozzo who headed into the top right corner from eight yards.

Warren sent on Richards on 65 minutes and the new signing played a crucial part in the hosts' second goal on 75 minutes. His neat ball from inside the box fed Akers who controlled it well before dinking a cute shot over Kavanagh.

However, Bedford were level just two minutes later. Sub Jamie Cole's corner found an unmarked Stuart Wall and the towering centre-half headed through a sea of legs before beating Harlow keeper Rhys Madden, who got his hands to the ball but could not stop it from going in.

Harlow pushed on in search of a winner, which arrived with just eight minutes remaining.

A cross from the left was skilfully back heeled towards goal by Akers and, although a Bedford defender blocked this effort, the ball span out to Roget and he hammered it into the roof of the net from the edge of the six-yard box.

New signing Brown, who was cautioned late on for time wasting, added: "We have a lot of good players. I was surprised at the ability of the players. We look great going forward."

"Their second goal was unlucky. I thought we dominated the game. I didn't realise they were from a division above."

HARLOW TN: Madden 6, Barnard 5, Opinel 6, Roget 7, Stewart 4, Brown 6, Hunter 6, AKERS 8, Stadhart 6 (Richards 65), Ferguson 7 (Kilapi 78), Cowley 7. Subs not used: Barnes, Stevenson, Hasell (gk). Att: 248.

Dobson on trial at Nicosia

>>>Cont'd from back

Dobson joined Hertford's Brazilian striker Doug Santos, who used to play for Omonia Nicosia, on trial in Cyprus.

Dobson said on his Facebook site last week: "I've just got here and it's really hot. I've got a massive week ahead of me. This is a business trip – ain't no pleasure involved."

Meanwhile, Hawks keeper James Hasell could have a frustrating wait on the sidelines as he tries to force his way back into Warren's plans.

Hasell was on the bench for the 3-2 victory over Bedford in the FA Trophy on Saturday.

Madden kept clean sheets in three of the last five Hawks in which he has played.

"Rhys has done very well. He has shown confidence," Warren added.

Hawks were set to visit Ilford in the league last night (Wednesday) and host AFC Sudbury this Saturday.

In a strange quirk of the fixture lists, Harlow Rugby Club are also hosting a team from Sudbury this Saturday (3pm).

After AFC Sudbury, the Hawks are away to Canvey Island in the Essex Senior Cup third round on Tuesday.

Winger Andre Modeste-Humphrey (personal issues) is not expected back until the end of November.

Utility player Mark Taylor (thigh) is still out.

Essex Women's Hockey League, premier division

BOTH Harlow and hosts East London slipped down the table as the sides fought out a goalless draw.

Saturday's result saw Harlow move from fourth to sixth spot and East London went down to fourth from third.

Harlow came closest to scoring in the first half when Carolyn Rushton's shot hit a post.

At the other end, player-of-the-match, the Harlow keeper Linda Rowley, made a brilliant double save in the final minute of the first half. She pushed the ball behind after making a fine initial save with her feet.

In the latter part of the second half, Petra Trimble denied the hosts with an excellent last-ditch tackle, while Rowley also shone with a superb stop from another chance.

Harlow player Sonya Amos said: "It was a fair result from a fine physical effort from both teams."

HARLOW (squad): Rowley, Shearman, Hansson, Trimble, Chambers, Douglas, Rushton, Tweddle (c), Figg, Byers, Amos, Esterhuysen, Phipps. Other result: East Men's Hockey div four south east - Harlow 5, Southend II 1.

JARED Bethell ran a fantastic race at the Amsterdam Marathon.

The Harlow Running Club member was 272nd in two hours, 56 minutes and 31 seconds. Some 10,000 runners completed.

Meanwhile, Steve Mackenzie was the first Harlow finisher in the Ware 10-mile race.

He was 12th from more than 340 runners in 1:05.37.

Mackenzie was followed home by Pasquale Pellecchia in (1:11.56) and John Bull (1:13.46).

MARK Hall School student Canaan Solomon shone with two outstanding cross country wins.

The 11 year-old came first in the U-13s Metropolitan League 3km race at Claybury in Essex. He clocked 11 mins and 7 secs.

Canaan then won the West Essex Schools cross country Year 7 2.5km race at Passmores School. It was his debut at this event.

All six age group winners were from Harlow schools.

The Year 7 girls race (2.5km) saw a tremendous tussle before Mark Hall pupil Jodie Ratcliff (11) just scrapped home in front of 11 year-old Stewards School pupil Rosie Poole.

St Nicholas pupil Zoe Benton was third and Harlow AC athlete Sade

Akimwumi (representing Davenant School in Loughton) was fourth.

Amelia Barrett and Perry Rowan (both 14 and from Burnt Mill School) enjoyed commanding victories in the junior girls and junior boys races held over 4km. Joe Barrett was fourth.

Mark Hall pupils Alicia McArdell (13) and Sky Mulvey (12) were 3rd and 4th respectively in the junior girls event.

In the inter boys race (5km), Ryan Dunne (15), a Mark Hall student, retained his title in convincing style.

Passmores student Isobel Moss (14) won the inter girls race over 4km.

Rams try scorers were Jack Christy (2), Rhys Whitby and Neil Almond. Alfie Clark kicked one conversion.

In division two of the Essex U-15 League, Harlow lost 39-19 at South Woodham Ferrers. Jordan Shipp scored a try and kicked two conversions, while try scorers were Ryan Clark and Rhys Davis.

BROWN SOURCE OF INSPIRATION: Hawks new loan signing, former Leyton Orient midfielder Danny Brown (HSP06#263)

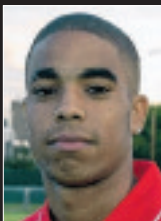

Dobson on trial at Nicosia

FOOTBALLER Reece Dobson, right, is keeping his fingers crossed after a successful trial at Omonia Nicosia – the biggest professional side in Cyprus.

Forward Dobson has been playing in the Spartan South Midlands League for the Blues and has scored four goals with plenty of assists.

An early burst of form prompted

Hertford to secure his services permanently, along with Hawks midfielder James Peagram.

However, he now hopes to sign for the Cypriot giants and even met the president of the country during his stint on the Mediterranean island.

Dobson was a key part of the Harlow Town side which finished bottom of the Ryman League division one north last season.

He played under boss Anthony Anstead and later Marvin Samuel. However, he was deemed surplus to requirements and was one of several players moved on by current Hawks chief Kevin Warren between July and September.

Hawks new signing Brown backs side for 2 promotions

FORMER Leyton Orient midfielder Danny Brown is determined to help 'make club history' by being part of a Harlow Town team which completes successive promotions.

Brown – once the subject of a £50,000 transfer from Orient to Barnet – is convinced the club can not only go up this season, but seal promotion in 2012 and play in Blue Square South for the first time in the Hawks' history.

Brown was an apprentice at Brisbane Road alongside Warren and has known Hawks co-owner Tommy Cunningham since he was 10!

Despite being a regular in the midfield engine room for Blue Square Premier side Eastbourne Borough, Brown agreed to step down two divisions in the non-League pyramid as he believes the Barrows Farm men can achieve great things.

Brown runs a bar in Greenwich, South London, with Hawks left-back Sacha Opinel but is re-training to become a signal engineer with London Underground.

He asked Eastbourne to extend his initial loan from one month to three months, to not only allow him more time to concentrate on his studies but also to push Harlow Town to the top of the league.

"I wanted to be part of this growing football club. I believe the club can make history. I believe they can go up and go up again. Clubs at this level shouldn't attract

Family so proud of bronze medallist Jo

JOANNE Harten has returned home to a hero's welcome after helping her England netball team secure the bronze medal at the Commonwealth Games in India.

The former St Mark's pupil, from Harlow, played a key role as England beat Jamaica 70-47 in the third place play-off match last Thursday.

Christine Harten, Joanne's mother, said: "We are very pleased and proud of her. The whole team has worked very hard over the last four years to get this."

"It was a bit disappointing against Australia [England lost 51-45 in the semi-final] but they beat Jamaica by more than anybody else did."

Langley estate on Sunday after Joanne jetted back with the jubilant England team.

The 21 year-old then went back to Loughborough University to continue her degree in international relations.

"We had a lovely get together on Sunday. All the family came round," Mrs Harten said.

"Her old schools [St Albans Catholic School and St Mark's in Harlow] are also very pleased for her."

Against Jamaica, England opened up a 33-23 half-time lead.

This increased to 50-38 before Jamaica capitulated as England racked up 70 points.

In the final, New Zealand beat Australia 66-64 to win the gold medal.

Thoughts now turn to the London 2012 Olympics for many ath-

Mrs Harten said: "There has been a big campaign to get netball into the Olympic Games but until you get mainland Europe and America on board it will be a difficult task."

She hopes it will be an Olympic sport by 2020, but by then Joanne will be 31.

"You have players in their 30s and one New Zealand player is 38 so it will not be too late."
